Plasticard Modelling

Please see below list of Requirements, but none of them are essential as we have had customers who have been happy to sit and watch taking in all the hints and tips for a later date. We will be making a couple of small models such as a platelayers hut and a 5 plank wagon body, so if you have any drawings of either/both for the railway company you model, please bring them although you may not actually use them.

Plastic card	Please bring what ever you have of Plastic card and solvent/glue. Plastikard and Evergreen are the recognized brands. We have a stock of everything Geoff will use over the weekend.
Tools	You will need a cutting mat. Geoff will show you what sort of knife he uses and we have stock of those + some other very specialized tools for sale. But bring your knife + Needle files, fine Wet & Dry, a paint brush for the solvent/glue, Steel(must be Steel) ruler and square, will also be needed.
Pen & Paper	If you want to make notes
Questions	What ever question you can think of most other people in the room will have already asked it, or wants to ask it. This is your chance to get answers to all of them
Drawings/Photos	We may not get chance to build St Pancras Station in the weekend, but some drawings and or pictures of small items, wagons, platelayers huts, etc, may be useful, if only to talk about
Unknown	There will always be something we have forgotten so please if you think of something, ask and then we can pass it on to others.
Sense of Humour	Although the content is serious, we will try to make the weekend friendly and easy going as possible. We hope you have a most enjoyable weekend working with like minded modellers with a keen interest to learn.
